

CKX31 Compact inverted microscope for routine use

The CKX31 is a low-cost inverted microscope with a fixed binocular observation tube that delivers high optical performance together with convenient operation. It accommodates a wide variety of special cell culture and imaging needs making it ideal for cell culture in clean benches and simple micromanipulation....Read More

