

GX71 - inverted reflected light microscope

The GX71 enables observation of upright images and employs super wide field observation (F.N.26.5), ideal for every observation method from bright field to fluorescence by simply changing the position of the GX71's beam splitter turret...Read More

